

HIGHLIGHT

Who are you?

Charmide is a consulting and training compagny specializing in bioethics. As an entrepreneur, I offer personalized services to integrate ethical considerations into biotechnology development practices, in order to respond to new societal challenges of responsible innovation.

What is your expertise?

I hold a PhD in medical ethics and bioethics, and I specialized in research and biotechnology ethics. I address ethical challenges by relying both on a contextual approach and on thinking tools from philosophy and ethical theories. I can bring an original eye to biotechnological development, based on the human and social sciences.

What are your key services?

My final goal is to build practical and relevant tools to improve practices through ethics. Based on your practices and challenges that you or we have identified, I develop a method and associated tools to resolve them. My approach is based on both the national and international regulatory and normative framework, and the latest innovations in bioethics.

Can you sum up your company in 3 words?
